Newseum (Passes for use anytime)

Considered one of the most interactive museums in the world, the Newseum has seven levels with 15 galleries and 15 theaters. Exhibits include the 9/11 Gallery Sponsored by Comcast, which displays the broadcast antennae from the top of the World Trade Center; the Berlin Wall Gallery, whose eight concrete sections are one of the largest displays of the original wall outside Germany; and the Pulitzer Prize Photographs Gallery, which features photographs from every Pulitzer Prize–winning entry dating back to 1942.

Featuring dramatic vistas of Washington, D.C., the Newseum has become one of the city’s most sought-after venues for conferences, weddings, movie premieres and special events. Two state-of-the-art television studios host programs of all kinds, which are broadcast around the world each week.

The Newseum is a 501(c)(3) public charity funded by generous individuals, corporations and foundations, including its principal funder, the Freedom Forum.

National Museum for Women in the Arts (Passes for use anytime)

The National Museum of Women in the Arts (NMWA) is the only major museum in the world solely dedicated to championing women through the arts.

With its collections, exhibitions, programs, and online content, the museum seeks to inspire dynamic exchanges about art and ideas. NMWA advocates for better representation of women artists and serves as a vital center for thought leadership, community engagement, and social change. NMWA addresses the gender imbalance in the presentation of art by bringing to light important women artists of the past while promoting great women artists working today.

Washington Mystics (Wednesday, June 5th, 6 pm tour, 7:00pm game)

Come cheer on the Washington Mystics during their 2019 season! As one of the WNBA's first expansion teams, the Washington Mystics first took their athletic wizardry to the court in 1998. Since then, the team has made seven playoff appearances, beating out plenty of other teams that were too timid to play with a crystal basketball. The Mystics follow the direction of head coach Mike Thibault, the winningest active coach in the league and the second all-time coach to reach 200 wins. Whether you are a fan of action-packed basketball or just relish in the game time atmosphere, Mystics games offer professional basketball at an affordable price in a fun, family-friendly atmosphere. Home games will be played at the brand-new Entertainment and Sports Arena, where you'll find that every seat is close to the competition.

Offering a complimentary ticket to the Mystics vs Chicago Sky to 20 agents.

Nationals (Wednesday, June 5th, 1:05pm game)

Nationals Park is located in Southeast Washington, south of the Capitol, along the fast-developing Capitol Riverfront adjacent to the Navy Yard. The new park not only redefines modern sports facility architecture but also serves as the catalyst and cornerstone of a new mixed-use Capitol Riverfront in our nation's capital.

What better way to spend your time in the nation's capital than by enjoying a night out at the ballpark taking in the sights and sounds of America's national pastime - baseball!

DC Brau (Thursday, June 6th, 4:00 pm)

Not too long ago, our nation's capital was a world-class beer town without a brewery to call its own. Since Christian Heurich had closed the doors to his brewery in the 1950s, Washington DC had no brewery whose products were available in local stores and on tap outside its site of production. There were brewpubs, yes, but no breweries. Enter Brandon Skall & Jeff Hancock.

Starting in 2009, the duo went about filling the glaring void in the local beer market. Two years later, on Tax Day 2011, DC Brau Brewing Company officially tapped its first keg of beer entirely brewed, packaged and sold within the District of Columbia. Since then, the brewery has crafted award-winning beer — utilizing a delicious and uniquely American blend of North American and European techniques and ingredients — with distribution throughout the greater National Capital Region, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, and beyond.

Tudor Place Historic Museum and Gardens (June 11 2019, 2:30pm)

Since 1816, Tudor Place has overlooked Georgetown and the Potomac River, a grand residence whose design salutes the early American Republic.

One of America's first National Historic Landmarks, it was built by a granddaughter of Martha Washington and a son of Robert Peter, a prominent Scottish-born merchant and landowner and Georgetown's first mayor. Thomas and Martha Custis Peter purchased 8½ acres of farmland on Georgetown Heights. Dr. William Thornton, architect of the first U.S. Capitol and a family friend, designed the grand neoclassical house, which was completed in 1816.

The estate remained under continuous Peter family ownership through six generations spanning 178 years, its rooms a destination for leading politicians, military leaders, and dignitaries. Following the death, in 1983, of Armistead Peter 3rd, the founders' great-great-grandson, the site opened to the public as a museum in 1988 in accordance with his wishes. Now a historic house and garden museum, it remains one of the nation's few historic urban estates retaining the majority of its original landscape.

Viewable today by guided tours offered hourly, the house remains as the Peters lived in it, preserving spaces and belongings of many eras while adapting their home and landscape to contemporary fashion and functions.

Right Proper Brewing (Tuesday June 11th, 4:00 pm)

Right Proper Brewing Company started out of a vision that centered around DC as a hometown, with each neighborhood defined by a different culture and not one that relied solely on museums and monuments (though we love those too).

It was a vision that you could go to your local pub, have a glass of beer that is fresh, brewed on premises, and without the DC price tag. The beers would be defined by the yeasts used to ferment them as opposed to the hops that bittered them. The bar would be a gathering place for the community, one that evoked conversation and lit by candles instead of TV screens. A projector would be available for viewing events that bring the community together. The staff would be happy and friendly, and of course, awesome.

These are the things that would bring you in, but then you would be pleasantly surprised by the food. Good, real, food flavored food that costs less than 20 bucks. So you could come back, night after night, because the beer list is always changing, the food is delicious and affordable and the staff couldn't wait to see you.
